Prepared for the BRASS Discussion Group. ALA. Boston. January 2005. Introduction: This bibliography is divided into three sections: Library Literature; Books & Handbooks; and Web sites. The databases and URLs for articles that are available in full-text are listed. These sources require that your institution has a license. The article by Shoaf contains an excellent review of the literature on the use of focus groups in libraries. Many of the citations in this bibliography are discussed in his article.
