The primary learning here is the sexual acting out may not be a sexual message at all. Seductive gestures, masturbating in your presence, use of sexual words, exposure, or attempts to feel the nurse may seem clear sexual messages, but, in fact, may be but a plea for someone to show some care and concern or a need for some physical contact. Some use these methods as attempts at friendliness or to reduce the isolation and loneliness. Are you sure you want to remove Textbook of human sexuality for nurses from your list?
