Ruttie Jinnah / Khwaja Razi Haider
Karachi, Pakistan: Oxford University Press, 2010
xxii. 168p. ; 23cm.
ISBN-13: 9780195477047
$ 30.00

Ruttie Jinnah was the only woman to capture the heart of Quaid-i-Azam Mohammad Ali Jinnah, the founder of Pakistan.

The daughter of a Parsi business magnate, Ruttie Dinshaw Petit embraced Islam and married Jinnah when she was only 18 years old, despite stiff opposition from her parents and community members.

Ruttie revered Jinnah's wisdom and logic; he was enamoured of her exception intellect. However, despite their unfaltering love and dedication to each other, the marriage suffered as Jinnah's political commitments resulted in extended separations while he toured India in his fight for independence from the British yoke.

This volume reveals irrefutable facts about the relationship between Mohammad Ali Jinnah and his wife. Based on primary sources, visits to the places where significant events in their lives took place, and meetings with people who had interacted with the couple, this book provides a clear, substantiated account of the life of Ruttie Jinnah.

The Charismatic Leader: Quaid-i-Azam Mohammad Ali Jinnah and the Creation of Pakistan / Sikandar Hayat
Karachi, Pakistan: Oxford University Press, 2008
xxi. 386p. ; 24cm.
ISBN-13: 9780195474756 (HB)
$ 39.50

This book provides a detailed and systematic analysis of the charismatic leadership of Quaid-i-Azam Mohammad Ali Jinnah, the leader of Indian Muslims during the crisis-ridden decade of 1937-47.

Based on the concept of charisma formulated by Max Weber and developed by recent writers, the study concentrates on the 'personality-related' and 'situational' factors that led to the emergence of Jinnah as the charismatic leader of the Muslims and sustained him in that role until the creation of Pakistan.

Reminiscences of a Pakistani Diplomat / Shahid M. Amin
Karachi, Pakistan: Karachi Council on Foreign Relations, 2009 257p. ; 24cm.
ISBN-13: 9789699431005 (HB)

Were there any secrets in the Tashkent Agreement and the Shimla Agreement? What is the true story about the Rann of Kutch arbitration? What was the nature of the troubled relationship between Pakistan and Libya during the Zia regime? What led the Soviet Union to withdraw from Afghanistan? Who killed Ziaul Haq?

Some answers to these baffling questions are provided in this book by former Ambassador Shahid M. Amin. This is a diplomat's account of his near forty years experience in Pakistan's Foreign Service where he held some very sensitive appointments. Shahid Amin gives first-hand impressions of Pakistani rulers like Ayub Khan, Bhutto, Ziaul Haq and Junejo, as well as key figures in Pakistan's diplomacy like Zafrulla Khan, Manzur Qadir, Aziz Ahmed, Agha Shahi, Sahebzada Yaqub Khan, Shah Nawaz and many others.

I have put down here thoughts on important national issues as I saw them; on our follies and prejudices and what I felt was required to save Pakistan from its slide towards chaos and destruction. Much of this has appeared during the past years in the national press and little of this is new. It is however a collection of thoughts that in my view bear repetition. This book contains some letters and speeches made during my years of struggle against authoritarian rule of an elected government and against military dictators. It also has letters which I had written to the leadership of my party, the Tehrik-i-Istiqlal, an organizational matters, during my nearly five years detention conveying me views on the running of a democratic political party.

First published under the title Woman versus Man: Socio-legal Gender Inequality in Pakistan
2003
$ 35.00

This book is for those who are concerned with the deteriorating situation of women in Pakistan and wish to obtain an overview of the legal and practical changes which have been introduced to improve their condition. A critical analysis of the continuous and increasing misinterpretations of the principles of Islam through legal acceptance is presented. Several references to laws which have been recently changed and have an effect on woman's lives have been added, including alterations to the Criminal Procedure Code 1898 and Pakistan Penal Code 1860, such as the introduction of the death penalty for gang-rape.

A paradox as it may seem but the strange travesty of events bears that everybody knows who assassinated Benazir Bhutto including Asif Ali Zardari as he announced in a public meeting in Naudero on the occasion of first death anniversary of Benazir Bhutto on December, the 27th 2008.

Today, it is over two years to the date that the 'Daughter of the East' and the most popular leader of the country was assassinated. Today the party of the late Benazir Bhutto is in power. Today, her spouse is sitting in the highest executive office of the country. And yet, the case is still a mystery? Will it ever be solved?

Pakistan is a large subject, and an unforgivingly complicated one at that, yet Lieven manages to tackle some of its most obscure problems without losing his cool. Lieven has written a very measured book, no easy task when writing about such a hard country.â€ TotalPolitics.com, summer reading guide, June 28, 2011 â€œcounter-intuitiveâ€|Â Foreign Affairs, May/June 2011 â€œChallenging the notion that Pakistan is fragile, Lieven presents in exquisite detail how things actually work, for better or for worse, in that â€hard country.â€ Evening Standard, April 21, 2011.Â â€œPakistan-A Hard Country is one of the most detailed accounts of a country which often seems like it is held together by chewing gum (or willpower, if you like)â€but what still makes it tick? Federal Government of Pakistan has announced its budget for fiscal year 2010~2011 on Saturday 05 June, 2010.
