

THE CLASSROOM IS ALL AROUND US

From Paramus to the Pinelands and Asbury Park to Fairfield, the Emmy Award-winning program Classroom Close-up, NJ is devoted to spotlighting important initiatives, learning techniques and collaborations that public school systems and teachers across the state are implementing in their classrooms and communities.

May 1: Pinelands — Paramus — Cumberland County — Montclair

Pinelands Regional High School's "Senior Take-Over the School Day" gives students the opportunity to walk in their teachers' shoes by preparing and teaching actual classroom lessons, discovering the challenging yet vital the role of educators. Cumberland County's student-run "Give Kids a Smile Day" allows high school students to partner with professional volunteers in scheduling, fundraising, and assisting in free dental work to underprivileged children. The episode also focuses on team building at Paramus' Stone Lane Elementary School and an incorporation of arts and academics at Montclair's Glenfield Middle School.

May 8: Fairfield — Riverdale — Monmouth County — Buena Regional

Green initiatives are central to Fairfield's Adlai Stevenson School, which not only benefits the Earth, but also transforms Pre-K through third grade students into mini-scientists, studying plant life cycles, ecosystems, and more. Buena Regional Middle School emphasizes reading recognition programs, third-graders from Riverdale explore mini "internships" in the community, and Monmouth County Vocational School and Biotechnology High address the serious issue of suicide, and what can be done to prevent and assist with prevention.

May 15: Teaneck — Trenton — Asbury Park — Apschawa

Trenton's Washington Elementary school children learn respect and empathy from Kidsbridge, a non-profit bullying prevention organization dedicated to tolerance and diversity appreciation. Similarly, Asbury Park implements a therapy curriculum in its schools that focuses on developing social skills through music, yoga and books. Teaneck Community Charter School explores the emotion of music through painting and Apschawa Elementary teacher (and 2015 NJ History Teacher of the Year) Jaclyn Becker uses jellybeans to teach fourth graders a lesson about the fairness of taxation.

NJDOCS PRESENTS "BUNNIE"

Meet Bruna "Bunnie" Bellotti, a vibrant nonagenarian and New Jersey native who shares almost a century of life stories and advice in this new documentary film. Her biography is one of survival — ethnic discrimination, the Depression, two World Wars, Hurricane Sandy, a broken hip — and infectious passion for her husband, children, dancing and art. Her sage advice to achieving a long, fruitful life? "Respect will bring you love, love will bring you kindness, and kindness will bring you peace."

After the film, NJDocs series producer Rebecca Fasanello interviews Bunnie (who will be 99 in July 2016) and New Jersey filmmaker Steve Besserman about what it was like working on a retrospective together.

PREMIERES MONDAY,
MAY 2 AT 10PM
