FLUTIST'S DAILY DOZEN
Centerstream Publications
by B. Allan Duncan
Foreword by Danilo Lozano
The Flutist's Daily Dozen is designed to aid the flutist's development of technique and finger dexterity in all registers and keys. These technical exercises are unique in that the student's facility is continually challenged throughout the complete range of the flute. The studies are based on repeated four measure phrases and are transposed to every key and their relative minors, thus, requiring the student to execute each exercise a number of twenty-four times within a practice session. As the title suggests, these exercises are to be practiced on a daily basis within a twelve day cycle.

FLUTE ETUDES
These twelve etudes, by B. Allen Duncan, were written to provide new material for the flute that would be technically challenging for the flutist of moderate to advanced ability and still be of enough musical interest to be played as a set of unaccompanied solos. They offer a wide range of technical challenges for embouchure, breath control, finger dexterity and interpretive skills.

JAZZ FLUTE ETUDES
by Marc Adler
Houston Publishing
These etudes by Marc Adler will delight both classical and jazz musicians. Marc is an accomplished flutist and composer in both the jazz and classical arenas and is also an experienced educator. These twelve etudes explore each of the twelve keys but at the same time step out into contemporary sounds characteristic of modern jazz and 20th-century classical music, such as whole tone and diminished scales, and colorful chord progressions. Jazz flutists will enjoy his original jazz licks and may want to add some of them to their vocabulary of patterns. Classical flutists will appreciate the challenge of sight-reading these tightly woven compositions while savoring their improvisatory character.
